Labor Department Plans Capital And Labor Parley

PROPOSAL IS MADE TODAY BY M'GRADY

Coordination of Individual Programs to Be Aim of Conference, Claim
PEACE, ORDER SOUGHT
Solution of Industrial Problems Believed to Be Real Recovery Move

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—A plan to effectuate the industrial truce desired by President Roosevelt through joint efforts of three organizations representing capital and labor was advanced today by Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady.

"There is nothing so important right now as the establishment of peace and order in industry," McGrady told the United Press. "Industrial peace means industrial progress. Both spell human progress."

Pointing out that the American Federation of Labor, the United States Chamber of Commerce, and the National Association of Manufacturers each had adopted recommendations for recovery but "always at long distance from each other," McGrady proposed that they "get together."

Labor forces have been loath to get behind the president's truce, holding that to cease the battle for labor's rights would leave industry in possession of all it always has had, and all that which labor desires.

It was considered probable that the three groups will be invited to send representatives for a meeting, under labor department auspices, to attempt coordination of their individual programs to aid the New Deal.

"Why shouldn't the smartest business men in the world and the most productive workers in the world pull together for the common good?" McGrady said. "All that is needed are tolerance, understanding, and a mutual desire and determination to find a solution of our industrial problem."

MOVIE CHIEFS WORRIED OVER R FILM CLEANUP

Catholics Pledge Against Attending Houses That Show Indecent Plays

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Movie producers and distributors worried today about the intensified campaign of the Catholic hierarchy against indecent motion pictures, but spokesmen for the industry maintained an official silence.

It was said privately, however, that one sentence in the pledge all Catholics in the United States will be asked to take at mass tomorrow, worried them more than any other. It pledged against attendance at theaters that showed pictures classified as indecent as a matter of policy. This, the official said, could ruin many an exhibitor as the decision as to what pictures should be boycotted was not subject to exact definition.

The Catholic population of the United States numbers 20,000,000. Authorities of the New York archdiocese estimated that 75 per cent would be in attendance at Sunday masses. They estimated that at least 15,000,000 would pledge to boycott films listed by the church as indecent at tomorrow's masses.

The list of approved and disapproved films compiled by the Legion of Decency council of the Chicago archdiocese, which will be posted in every diocese in the country for the guidance of Catholics, was made public today. It listed 37 current pictures as class "A," that is suitable; 32 as class "B," that is suitable for adults but not for children; and 36 in class "C," that is unsuitable for either adults or children. The list will be revised weekly.

Mae West's new picture was listed in class "B." Jean Harlow's new film was put in class "C."

MAIL PILOT KILLED IN MYSTERY CRASH

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Low Bowen of Kansas City, a pilot of the Braniff Air Lines, was killed today when his airplane crashed alongside U. S. Highway 49 near here. Bowen was flying on the air route from Kansas City to Chicago.

Cause of the accident was not established immediately. The crash occurred at dawn. So completely was the plane destroyed by flames that it was not until several hours later that identity of the craft and the pilot was established.

The motor of the plane was buried in the frozen ground along the highway. The remainder of the plane, excepting the tail bearing identification marks, burned. The tail was thrown 30 yards from the other wreckage.

All of the mail except a few letters addressed to Chicago was burned.

DANCER ENDS LIFE WITH POISON DRINK

MONTEREY, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—The drink Donna Nadon, 23, professional dancer, waved so gaily over the heads of patrons of the Blue Ox cafe was poison—deadly cyanide of potassium—patrons who saw the girl drain the draught learned today.

Amid the laughter and the bright lights of the night club the former Seattle girl passed from table to table teasingly holding out the cup in her hand but refusing to let any one drink from it.

New Serial To Start In The Register

Four women—two of them young—are central figures in the strange drama of murder and attempted murder, jealousy, avarice and love presented in the new mystery serial, "The Claw of the Forgotten Murder," by Carleton Kendrake, starting in The Register on Tuesday, Dec. 11.

The story introduces a new detective to mystery fans—Sidney Griff. Griff is a criminologist whose methods of dealing with crime and criminals are distinctly original.

OFFER REWARD FOR RESCUE OF LOST AVIATORS

Small Craft Join Planes and Destroyers in Hunt for Captain Ulm

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Picturesque Japanese sampans and rusty old tramp steamers were drawn into the search for the lost airplane of Australia and its crew of three today by promises of rich rewards.

The Australian government, through W. P. W. Turner, British consul, offered $5000 to the person rescuing Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm, Leon Skilling and George Littlejohn.

A $1000 reward also was offered for recovery of authentic wreckage of the plane or of the bodies of the men who had tried to cross the Pacific from California to Honolulu and who came down at sea when near their goal.

It was estimated that the reward offers will draw some 1300 commercial craft, mostly fishing vessels, into a search the U. S. navy has pressed diligently from the moment the fliers appealed for assistance. The navy will continue its efforts, although few ships will take part.

All authorities have abandoned hopes of finding the men alive. They had a land type plane which, according to expert opinion, would remain afloat only 48 hours after landing on the ocean surface.

SUBMARINE RAISES TEN TONS OF COAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Dreamers of quick wealth rushed to pledge faith at $5 a share in Simon Lake's gold hunting submarine today, impressed by the success of its first dress rehearsal.

The Milford, Conn., inventor's salvaging device, built to search Hell Gate for a sunken treasure ship, raised ten tons of coal from a barge on the East River bottom.

Next, Lake said, he will seek the British frigate Hussar which sank in 1780 reportedly with a fortune in gold sovereigns.

FIND DYNAMITE ON STREET CAR TRACKS TODAY

Discover Explosive After Collision of Two Cars in Which 13 Hurt

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(UP)—A stick of dynamite was found on the tracks of the strike-harried Los Angeles street railway early today a short time after two street cars collided in a different section of the city, injuring 13 persons.

According to police reports, a pedestrian found the dynamite placed squarely on the rails. A street car passing over it would have been blown to bits, it was said.

L. A. Garmann, a motorman, was injured critically in the collision. He suffered a skull fracture. One of the two cars overturned, spilling crews and panic-stricken passengers in the aisles.

E. G. Johnson, a passenger, suffered possible internal injuries. The other passengers and crew members escaped with lacerations.

Police said the collision was caused by a faulty switch. Investigators emphasized the switch was defective and had not been tampered with or souped.

The strike situation has been extremely quiet for two days since negotiations were transferred to Washington by the National Labor Relations board. No outbreaks of any kind have been reported in contrast to earlier days of the walkout.

SAN FRANCISCO IN WELCOME TO FLEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The dirigible Macon roared a welcome overhead the combined Pacific battle and scouting forces sailed through the Golden Gate today into San Francisco harbor for a 10-day visit.

The 37 sea greyhounds, with their 33,000 men, made an impressive spectacle for thousands who lined the scaling cliffs of the Golden Gate waiting for a glimpse of the greatest marine spectacle in years.

Social festivities for men and officers, a gigantic all-navy boxing show and other entertainment is on tap for the men of the sea during their visit here.

15-MINUTE QUAKE REGISTERED TODAY

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 8.—(UP)—An earthquake of third or fourth degree intensity, lasting 15 minutes, was recorded early today at Regis college here, Father A. W. Forstall, seismologist of the college, said.

The tremor was first recorded at 2:44 a. m., reached its maximum intensity at 2:50 a. m. and ended at 2:59 a. m. It was said.

Father Forstall said the quake registered more sharply here than the recent quake which caused many deaths in Honduras.

The tremor was first recorded at 2:44 a. m., reached its maximum intensity at 2:50 a. m. and ended at 2:59 a. m. It was said.

Three Other Persons Are In Hospital

Police Visit Cheap Rooming Houses in Search for Other Victims

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Apparent victims of a "dehorn" or denatured alcohol, orgy, nine men had died in cheap rooming houses today and three others were seriously ill in police emergency hospital.

The nine all died since 8 p. m. Friday and police were visiting other rooming houses and cheap hotels to determine if there were more victims.

Although it was not definitely known that all were victims of denatured alcohol poisoning until autopsies can be performed, six were known to police as "dehorn" drinkers, and the others appeared to be of the same type.

In possession of some of them were found denatured alcohol bottles, plainly marked "poison."

Although deaths from denatured alcohol poisoning are not infrequent, the number of them occurring in such a short time led police to send some of the samples to a chemist for analysis to determine if the poison agent was unusually virulent.

DOKE TRIAL WILL RESUME ON MONDAY

WOODLAND, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—The jury in the second trial of the White Hibiscus slaying today began the first of a three-day period during which its members may do anything they please except:

1. Discuss the case or permit it to be discussed in their presence.
2. Read newspaper accounts of the trial.

2. Listen to radio reports of the trial proceedings.

With these admonitions, Judge Neal Chalmers late yesterday recessed the trial until Tuesday morning, when state and defense attorneys will resume their tasks, one trying to convict and the other free Judson C. Doke, San Leandro man charged with killing his wife's lover—a college poet.

MUNITIONS PROBE MAY BE EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The senate munitions investigating committee, after a week of testimony by America's leading arms manufacturers, was ready today to assist similar inquiries in other countries.

Chairman Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., reiterated a willingness to aid Great Britain or any other nation that might desire to inspect the books of its munitions companies.

Nye's investigators, however, were confronted by the problem of piecing together a disconnected picture of post war activities by American manufacturers. Some disappointment was expressed at results of testimony heard the last four days. Several important angles were left incomplete.

A RAIN storm made to order for agriculturists of Orange county brought immeasurable benefits to jubilant farmers in the county today.

Citrus fruit and leaves on the trees, shriveled and dry because of two strong desert winds which whipped across the county this and last week, were particularly benefited.

The dry fruit and leaves literally sucked up the moisture, citrus association officials said, and were normal again today as a result.

The welcome rainfall washed clean the leaves and fruit, coated with dust from the windstorm. The precipitation came in a fine but steady rainfall, the best kind possible for the citrus fruit and trees.

Not only was the citrus industry benefited by the timely rain, but the rainstorm brought great benefit to cover and seed crops. It also facilitated plowing and working of soil.

Starting about 5 o'clock yesterday evening, the rain continued throughout the night and morning, bringing a total of .65 inches to Santa Ana, making the seasonal total 6.15 inches, as compared with .60 at this time last year.

Huntington Beach received more rain than any other part of the county at the time of readings this morning. The Huntington Beach rainfall was .83 inches. Buena Park was second with .76 inches. Anaheim continued to lead with a seasonal total of 2.20 inches as compared with .42 inches at this time last year.

Measurements in the table above were taken mostly at 7 o'clock this morning, others a little later.

The United States Weather Bureau predicted unsettled weather with probable showers tonight and tomorrow morning.

TANGO MEN ORDERED TO PAY SALES TAX

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Operators of "tango" games must pay the state sales tax, a decision of the third district court of appeal held today in ordering N. H. Schur of Ocean Park to pay $1220 tax for 1933.

The decision upheld a previous ruling of the Sacramento superior court in the case. The court held that if "tango" is a gambling game it is a legitimate game of skill, the cigars given as prizes and later redeemed for cash come under provisions of the 2-1-2 per cent sales tax.

400 BARGE WORKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—As the strike of 400 barge workers went into its fourth day it was announced that the strike of the Amalgamated Clothing workers neared settlement and most of the 350 strikers would be back to work Monday.

The bargemen's walkout practically tied up operations of six principal companies and eight smaller companies in the bay region. A substantial increase in wages is asked for along with shortening of working hours.

BREAK IN COLD SNAP FORECAST FOR MID-WEST

Temperatures Rise; Snow Blankets Many States as South Gets Rain

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Weather bureau forecasters predicted a slight but general break today in a cold wave affecting all the United States and Canada. Snow blanketed states of the mid-continent anticipated new falls, however, as thermometers rose.

The grip of an Arctic cold swept across the country by a blizzard born in the Rockies loosened yesterday in the northwest. In Huron, S. D., the mercury rose 38 degrees above the 8 below zero of yesterday morning.

Temperature records of many years fell yesterday in all sections of the nation. Rochester, Minn., was the coldest reported spot in the United States, with 24 degrees below zero. At White River, Ont., the mercury dropped to minus 32.

Old Forge, N. Y., had a minimum of 36 below.

No parts of the country escaped the storm entirely, even Los Angeles and Miami experiencing "unusual" weather. It was 58 in the Florida city, with rain falling, and 66 in Los Angeles.

Chicago's thermometers touched new lows for the season early today, at 11 above zero, but were expected to climb gradually through the day. Galena, Ill., where horticulturists advertised blooming roses a week ago, saw the mercury drop to 14 below zero.

Rain was general through the gulf states and the south as the storm broke, and precipitation, either as snow or rain, was predicted for most of the region east of Colorado and Montana.

ICKES OIL STAND DEFENDED AT MEET

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes is not attempting to seize more power and authority as an oil dictator, but is only exercising the powers which the oil industry has conferred on him, Amos L. Beaty, chairman of the National Planning and Co-ordination committee of the oil code, told delegates to the convention of the Independent Petroleum association at their banquet here last night.

Beaty reminded the assembled oil men that they were responsible for the powers granted Ickes—that they formulated and conferred them.

Beaty said many of the present ills of the oil industry were due to mismanagement by major companies. He cited as an example their over-expensive marketing system through which it costs major companies seven cents a gallon to handle gasoline through filling stations.

FRANCE AND ITALY TAKE SIDES TODAY

French Upholds Jugo-slav Stand While Italians Back Up Hungary Angle
ENGLAND IS NEUTRAL

Anger Mounts in Hungary as Refugees Arrive at Border, Starving, Cold

GENEVA, Dec. 8.—(UP)—France and Italy took opposing sides today in the potentially dangerous political and territorial dispute between Yugoslavia and Hungary. Great Britain assumed the role of neutrality.

The Balkan conflict, brought before the League of Nations council amid talk of war, resolved itself into a dispute over revision of the post-war treaties by which Hungary—as well as Austria and Germany—lost territory in formation of the new Danubian states. Hungary has been charged with a terrorist campaign, such as the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia, designed to revise the treaties.

The lineup before the council today:

France, through Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, placed herself squarely on the side of Yugoslavia, which brought the charges of terrorist responsibility against Hungary. Laval indicated that Hungary, under the League covenant, was indirectly guilty of aggression against Yugoslavia and called for international solidarity and action against terrorism, Czechoslovakia, Turkey and other Balkan entente nations support this stand.

Italy, through Baron Pompeo Aloisi, came to the defense of Hungary and reiterated Italy's demand for revision of the post-war treaties to fit today's facts. He denied Laval's charge that Hungary's position menaced the peace of Europe and said, on the contrary, that revision was the best hope of peace.

Great Britain, through Anthony Eden, expressed doubt that opinion regarding responsibility for the Marseilles crimes could be formed at present.

"It is incumbent upon all of us to proceed with extreme caution," Eden said in emphasizing the efforts of the larger powers to quiet the war talk among the Balkan nations.

Eden indicated that the action of Yugoslavia in expelling Hungarian residents had aroused the anxiety of the British government.

"I will not conceal the fact that certain reports I have recently received gave cause for anxiety," Eden said.

FEELING IS BITTER IN HUNGARY TODAY

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
BUDAPEST, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Anger mounted in Hungary today as reports continued of destitute refugees arriving at frontier points, expelled from their home in Yugoslavia.

Feeling was dangerously bitter along the frontier, particularly at Roeszke, near where armed bands of Yugoslavian citizens crossed the frontier Thursday and led to false reports about that Yugoslavian soldiers invaded Hungary—an act of war.

DRUNK DRIVERS FORM MAJORITY BEFORE COURT

The second trial of Glen Callan, Fullerton rancher charged with a $421 hold-up of C. J. Kovar at the Smart and Final store in Fullerton September 1, was reset yesterday by Superior Judge H. G. Ames for January 10, the original date having been December 17. A stipulation between prosecution and defense was filed, asking the later date.

The jury disagreed at Callan's first trial.

After six defendants charged with drunk driving had appeared on the regular Friday morning criminal calendar yesterday, comprising all but one case on the calendar, eight more cases of alleged drunk driving were on the afternoon calendar, which was completely made up of such cases. The total for the day thus was 14 out of 15 cases.

Delbert Lathery, arrested on that charge on Silverado road near El Toro road November 30, pleaded guilty and asked probation. His hearing was set for December 21.

Leroy Friend pleaded guilty and will receive a probation hearing December 14.

Earl J. Cook was granted probation for two years, on condition that he pay a fine of $50, at the rate of $10 per month.

David Tomenelli was denied probation and sentenced to six months in the county jail.

Edmund Puentes pleaded guilty and will receive a probation hearing December 14.

D. 1, Box 332, Garden Grove, caught Ramirez in the garage and held him until the arrival of Deputy Sheriff Claude Porter and Fred Swazey, who brought him to the jail. According to the service station men, Ramirez had broken the glass from a window, unscrewed the door and gained entrance. Once inside, he had opened two doors of a car, removed the cigarette lighter and taken a pair of goggles, it was said.

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 8. (To the Editor of The Register.) Certainly news in the papers today, "Russian firing squad executes 200." "Thousands of Hungarians driven from Jugoslavia." "Norman H. Davis gives warning to Japan that ship ratio will not be changed."

Now there is three separate events? each enough to start its own war, but time will tell which one of the three proved the most costly. Two of these are dealing with their own internal affairs, and I just sort of hate to see us dictate beyond our own borders.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

pealed to the government to send rifles and ammunition with which to repel any further incursions of the hands—civilians who plunder political enemies frequently, and who have crossed the frontier before.

Reinforcements of Yugoslavian police, as well as the irregulars, were at the frontier today, sent with the asserted object of preventing any reference from returning to Yugoslavian soil.

Tone of newspaper comment here was growing ever sharper and excitement increased as the pitiful groups of refugees arrived.

Society people, theatrical stars and movie actresses turned out as volunteers to aid in dispensing food and stew to the lines of refugees as they arrived in the interior towns. Archduke Albrecht of Austria-Hungary took $29 of the refugees to his estate at Magyarboly.

Latest arrivals at Seged, whence this correspondent has just returned, were mostly peasants. They said they were told of the deportation order at 11 o'clock in the morning and warned to leave in the afternoon.

They included a man who had undergone an operation a few days ago, and a woman suffering from fever after the birth of a child.

Farm Women Planning For Coming Year

Presidents and directors of Home departments of Farm Centers of the county met yesterday at the offices of the Farm Bureau to discuss programs for the coming year and to hear a talk given by R. D. Maherty. Mrs. L. A. Bortz, county president, presided. While ornamental grounds was the topic assigned for discussion for December meetings a number of the groups will substitute chosen topics.

In January, Home departments will consider landscaping. In February, better homes tours will be made of outstanding homes in the county; in March hats and style trends will be studied; April, salads; May, dry cleaning demonstrations will be made; in June, a frozen desserts and camping equipment topic will be studied.

Mrs. Bortz gave a report of the convention held recently in Bakersfield and announcement was made of a turkey dinner to be given by the recently organized center of Anaheim on Tuesday evening. It was announced that Mrs. Joe Witt of Santa Ana will lead group singing at the Foothill Farm center meeting on Wednesday at Villa Park.

Gloves and Robes Taken From Autos

The same burglar, possibly a woman, is believed to have entered the garages of H. K. Hougham, 218 Greenleaf street, and Mrs. Mary Jeffrey, 2010 Greenleaf street, and snatched two cars in each instance early yesterday, it was revealed by police.

The thief opened an unlocked door in each case and then made a thorough search of the cars. The fact that a pair of women's gloves and a wool laprobe were taken from the Hougham garage and two pairs of women's gloves, glasses and a shawl were stolen from the Jeffrey garage, offered the basis for suspecting a woman. Tools were untouched in all the cars and a woman's glove, not taken from either of the cars, was found on the floor of the Hougham garage.

The loot taken from the Jeffrey garage belonged to Mrs. Beryl Wilson of Van Nuys, daughter of Mrs. Jeffrey, who is visiting here.

HONOR MEMORY OF PIONEER AT SOCIETY MEET

Paying tribute to the memory of J. E. Pleasants, an honorary member of the society, a meeting of the Orange County Historical society was held last night in Charles W. Bowers Memorial Museum, Twentieth and Main streets.

William McPherson read a paper on the subject, "Biography of J. E. Pleasants," in which he touched upon the many incidents in the life of the pioneer from the time he left Missouri and came to California as a 49er. Pleasants lived around Sacramento for a time before coming here with William Wolfkill, who employed Pleasants in what now is Orange county. Pleasants spent the larger part of his life here. A bronze tablet in his honor has been put up in Irvine park by the society.

T. E. Stephenson and Dr. C. D. Ball, the latter president of the society, also made remarks covering their associations with Pleasants during his lifetime.

The other paper of the evening was read by Mrs. M. C. Maloney, on "Early Trade and Trails Between Oregon and California." Her paper showed that she had made considerable original research work in the libraries of Oregon and California. She traced efforts of the Hudson Bay Fur company in its effort to establish trade in Northern California. She illustrated her address with maps showing the various trade routes.

Next meeting of the society will be the annual meeting which will take place on January 4, 1935, when a board of directors will be elected, according to S. M. Davis, secretary.

SANTA ANA RANKS ELEVENTH ON ENTIRE PACIFIC COAST IN NOVEMBER BUILDING ACTIVITY

Santa Ana was eleventh among all cities on the Pacific coast in volume of building permits issued during November, according to a report received today from the Western Monthly Building Survey, published by H. R. Baker and company, San Francisco investment firm.

This city had a total of $105,164 in value of building permits, the report showed, as compared with $14,381 in November of 1933. The big increase also was shown in the fact that in October, 1934, the permits here amounted to but $4,584.

Fullerton, which ranked eighteenth also, was among the group of cities which reported increases in November over both October and November, 1933. The Fullerton permits amounted to $60,103 in November this year as compared with $9414 in October, 1934 and $1291 in November of last year.

Building permits for 74 reporting cities in November amounted to $4,881,785 compared with $5,080,833 in October and $5,493,319 in November, 1933. Santa Ana was among nine cities added to the group of 25 leading cities during the past month. Fullerton was another.

GOLD RUSH TO BE TOPIC OF TALK AT Y. M. C. A.

Approximately two dozen witnesses were said to be under subpoena for possible questioning by the county grand jury Monday when that body opens its official investigation of fraud charges, connected with the municipal election at Newport Beach last April 9.

How many of these witnesses would be summoned to give testimony tomorrow was not indicated today, and probably would not be determined until the grand jury itself goes into action, it was said.

Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis, assigned to the fraud investigation, is working with Attorney Edgar L. Martin, of Los Angeles, who represents a group of Newport Beach citizens and who first brought the charges on their behalf before the Newport Beach city council last August.

At the council's request District Attorney S. B. Kaufman at this time launched an investigation of the charges, which include allegations of illegal conduct by election boards, tampering with voting lists, and illegal voting by non-residents.

Kaufman's investigator, D. H. Betten, appeared with Attorney Martin before the grand jury last week, when the inquisitorial body voted to undertake the investigation.

"KIDDING" BY SERVICE MAN ROUTS BANDIT

A sense of humor is one of the reasons why Frank Hillgass, 203 West Nineteenth street, was not held up and robbed last night while on duty at the Standard Oil station at Tenth and Main streets.

At 7 o'clock, a young man entered the station, spoke to Hillgass and pulled out a gun. Outwardly calm, the operator pretended that it was a joke and started kidding the would-be bandit. Surprised at the turn of events and fearing the approach of possible customers, the intruder suddenly turned, ran from the station and disappeared in the darkness.

A thorough search of the vicinity was unavailing. The holdup man was described by the station attendant as being 23 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, wearing a green overcoat and white cap, and carrying a .38 caliber revolver.

Walker signs for new films by Paramount.

Announcement of the purchase of another line of famous film entertainment was made today by Manager Vic Walker of Walker's State theater, who said that in the future, in addition to the best pictures made by RKO, Fox and Columbia, he would screen Paramount films.

Walker said he had all the current line as well as that for the 1934-35 season from which to pick for the entertainment of Santa Ana theatergoers, and that he would pick the cream of the 64 fine films now at his disposal.

Paramount stars who will be featured in the new film fare at Walker's include Claudette Colbert, Gary Cooper, Mae West, Randolph Scott playing in Zane Grey western stories, W. C. Fields, Bing Crosby, Marlene Dietrich and Shirley Temple.

Some of the films in the available list under the new contract include "Old Fashioned Way," "Shoot the Works," "It Ain't No Sin," "She Loves Me Not," "The Scarlet Empress," "Now and Forever," "Vagabond," "Cloopatra," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," "College Rhythms," "Limbo," "Pursuit of Happiness," "Homes on the Range" and "Here Is My Heart."

"I am looking forward to one of the best years in the entertainment line we have ever had," Walker said in commenting on the program he is planning.

HOME BURGLARIZED

The home of George Harper, 225 River street, Orange, was burglarized early last evening when drawers were ransacked and $12.50 in cash and a wrist watch taken.

Mrs. Harper, returning home at 9 o'clock and seeing evidences of the intruders, went to a neighbor's house to telephone for police. She is of the opinion that the intruders were in the home when she arrived and that they were frightened away, according to Chief of Police George H. Franzen of Orange, who is investigating.

Suit Against City To Open Monday

The $10,000 damage suit brought by Charles F. # The New Deal and the Joneses

Securities Act Alone Can't Save 'Suckers'

This is the seventeenth article of the series in which the Joneses, typical American family, study out the New Deal for themselves and find that it's not such a tremendous mystery when it's discussed in plain language, in all its many phases.

BY WILLIS THORNTON
Chapter Seventeen

Pa Jones stopped by the big chair in the living room, and looked over the shoulder of John Jr., who was intently running down a column of stock market quotations.

"Well, son, thinking of having a fling at the market?" asked Pa, genially.

"No-o-o, not exactly," smiled John Jr. "Haven't got enough money saved up, for one thing, now that they've raised the margin requirements."

"I'll admit I've been watching National Doughnut pretty close, though. I wouldn't mind buying some of that just as a little speculation, now that the stock market commission is going to give us more protection."

"Don't fool yourself about that, son," cautioned Pa Jones. "The Securities and Exchange Commission isn't going to take the risk out of speculation for anybody. It isn't supposed to, and it isn't going to try."

"Even the Securities Act, which has been operating more than a year now, doesn't pretend that the new stock issues it O.K.'s are necessarily safe to buy."

Still a Gamble

"Well, I didn't suppose they'd exactly guarantee you making a profit," grinned John Jr., "but I did think they were trying to make 'em safer."

"Not in that way," Pa Jones continued. "All in the world that the Securities Act is supposed to do is to make sellers of new securities give a true account of just what the issues are before they sell 'em, and who's getting the gravy out of the sale."

"That's something, but short of being actually and deliberately misled by a false prospectus, it's still your funeral when you buy."

"Even that kept quite a few companies from offering new securities after the act was passed, didn't it?" suggested John Jr.

New Industries Rise

"At first it may have," Pa Jones admitted, "though I think general business conditions were the real reason why there were so few. But I saw just the other night the figures for the first year under the new Securities Act."

"There were 750 new issues, totaling more than a billion dollars. At first most of them were refinancing issues and liquor speculations. But in the last few months there were more and more new industrial enterprises in the list—since last January there were 81 manufacturing companies, I think, totaling over $1,000,000."

"That means, of course, that somebody's willing to chance it again on new industries, and is inviting the public to put up the money."

These two acts, the Securities Act and the Stock Exchange Act, are now under the Securities and Exchange Commission, headed by Joseph P. Kennedy, an old market man, who knows all the tricks, and has played most of them.

Pecora on Commission

With him on the commission are Ferdinand Pecora, whose investigating talent exposed financial racketeering; James M. Landis, who administered the Securities Act under the Federal Trade Commission; Judge Robert E. Healey and George C. Mathews, old FTC campaigners.

The Securities Act aims to secure publication of information about new stocks, so that prospective buyers may know what they're getting.

The Stock Market Act will regulate the New York Stock Exchange and other security markets, in an effort to cut out the manipulators, trading against their customers by stock houses, similar devices which "load dice."

It will still be a game of chance, but the SEC aims to see that fair dice are used.

Has Vet Importance

Many people, however, do not realize that stock markets are more important than mere gambling places. In the first place, there are 16,000,000 security owners in the country.

They are entitled to a fair and orderly place to exchange their holdings. But, even more important, stock markets are necessary to private business. It is here that money is raised for new enterprises.

But even more important still, these markets have a definite effect on credit conditions and business in general.

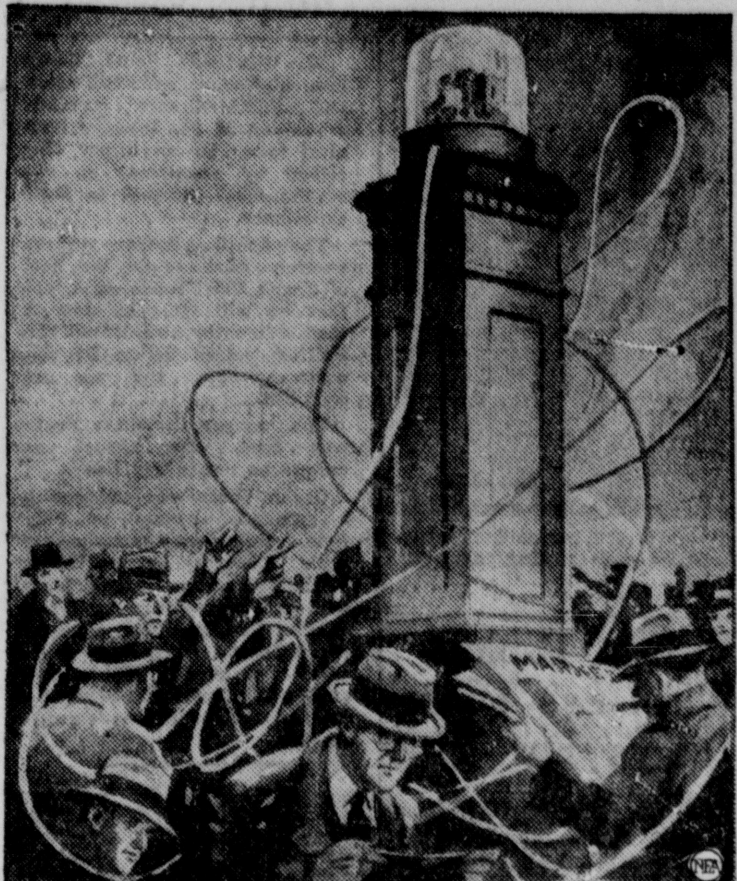

Pa Jones felt this personally, once, and there was indignation in his voice as he unburdened it to John Jr.

"It was in 1925, just at the time of the crash," he related. "You remember I was planning that addition to the store. I've always been a good credit risk. I pay my debts, and the bank knows it. They'd been sending all their surplus funds down to New York to loan in the call money market for stock market speculation."

"Rates were so high they could do better and with less risk—buying thought—than by lending to me. And they lent to anybody in town who wanted the money to buy stocks, too. But not for my addition."

Pa Took a Trimming

"There was your stock market,"

"Even the Securities act, which has been operating more than a year now, doesn't pretend that the new stock issues it gives the O.K. are necessarily safe to buy."

booming, and its high rates keeping bank money out of a really productive job like mine. Then the market did the big flop—the bank was caught with all that stock market collateral, and I haven't got my loan yet.

"This fall, with the new bank organized and not playing any of its money in Wall Street, I expect to get my loan. That's how the stock market has an effect on business entirely outside its own dealings."

"Of course, that's all outside the trimming I took in Consolidated Mousetrapp. I found later there was a pool in that which had put up the price shortly before I got in, and which let it flop shortly before I got out."

"The new laws may prevent that, but they wouldn't have prevented me taking a trimming, because the stock wasn't any good to start with. Your old man was a sap, John, and the law hasn't been devised yet that makes the world safe for saps."

Puts Curb on Credit
The work of the SEC thus has two aspects. The first is to eliminate so far as possible all unfair "loading of the dice" in the issue and trading of securities.

The second, is to try to keep conditions in the market such that too much money and credit will not be sucked into Wall Street speculation. Changing of margin requirements and interest rates with the help of the Federal Reserve Board should make it possible to regulate to some extent this flooding of credit into Wall Street, and help prevent any more wild speculative orgies as occurred in 1929.

The Securities and Exchange Commission is to use its twin securities and stock exchange regulation laws not to clog up and hamper, but to free and clean out the channels through which people's savings find their way into productive business.

NEXT: More Regulation—The Joneses tune in on a radio program, and it reminds them of the radio, oil, railroads, telephone lines, all now feel the hand of the government.

Court Notes

Kenneth A. Glick has filed suit superior court to annul his marriage to Verna P. Glick on the ground of fraud. They married in Los Angeles county September 8 and separated October 24, this year.

Judgment for $2257.11, alleged to be due on a note, is asked in a superior court suit filed by Emma L. French, Santa Ana, against J. A. Griffin and Gertrude Griffin.

Charging desertion, and asking for monthly allowance for support of her three children, Mrs. Marie Robertson has brought suit in superior court for divorce from Ralph R. Robertson. They were married in San Bernardino November 23, 1923, and separated May 15, 1933.

L. E. Woods of Brea, Dorothy Woods and Helen Slaughter, 13-year-old sister-in-law of Woods, asked $1000 damages each in a suit on file in superior court to pay for injuries they received last August 10, when Woods' car collided with a machine driven by J. D. Richards between Artesia and Norwalk. Richards was named defendant. In addition to the injury damages, Woods asked $300 for car damage.

JAYCEE ADDS EQUIPMENT TO LABORATORIES

To supplement the fine scientific equipment already installed in the new Santa Ana Junior college buildings at Tenth and Main streets, physics students are assembling materials for a wind tunnel to test airplane models. It was learned from H. O. Russell, physics instructor.

Student work on the tunnel is being done by Jack Hawkins and Ray St. Clair, under Russell's supervision.

Russell declared that the jaycee physics and other scientific equipment can compare favorably and is probably better than most other southland school equipment of this nature.

Improvements incorporated in the new laboratories include additional office and working space, lecture room equipped with phonographic projection apparatus, and a laboratory which will accommodate 20 students, more than twice the number of the former experiment room on the old campus.

APPRaisal EXPERT TO SPEAK MONDAY
Flood control, water spreading and property rights connected therewith will be discussed at an open meeting to be held Monday night in room 103 at the Francis Willard Junior High school.

HENRY'S CYCLE SHOP OPENS TOYLAND

With one of the most attractive lines of quality toys, mostly made by American manufacturers, Henry's Cycle shop at 427 W. 4th street, Santa Ana, opens Toyland today.

The scores of people, who have visited Henry's while toys were being placed on display racks, remark about the excellent quality of the toys... the new and different games etc., and the very low prices that feature them.

"While we always carry the largest stock of bicycles, tricycles and other wheel goods in Orange county, this stock of toys makes 427 W. 4th street a shopping center that everyone who has a girl or boy to please on Christmas day will not fail to visit," Henry says. "But suggest making early selections as many of these toys are as attractive and reasonably priced that quantity will not last during the entire Christmas buying season. I also want my customers to know that it is not too late to have bicycles and wheel goods repaired and repainted for Christmas."

DETROIT, Dec. 8.—Talk of chess and master minds is becoming a thing of the past, said Newell Williams, a Detroit chess champion, lost in a national tournament a half dozen years ago.

Checkers and chess require similar minds, although mighty few persons mix them. "Checkers is the more exact game," asserted Banks. "Chess is more complicated in the mid-game."

DADDY OF EXHIBITION PLAYERS

None ever came close to Banks as an exhibition player at either checkers or chess. Noise and confusion bother him not at all. Banks calls his moves in simultaneous matches while dancing by the boards with a partner. He carries on a rapid fire conversation while playing simultaneous matches at both checkers and chess, and a game of pocket billiards on the side. He has run 100 in 5 innings at pocket billiards under these circumstances. He also excels at billiards.

Banks established a world speed record—140 simultaneous games in 145 minutes—at the Century of Progress last year, winning 133 and drawing 7, while moving at a rate of slightly more than once each second.

He holds the speed record for mixed exhibitions, having met 75 at checkers, 25 at chess, and played checkers blindfolded with six others—all in 3 hours and 55 minutes. He won 65 checker matches, and drew 10; won 23 at chess, drew one, and lost one, and won four and drew two of the blindfold games.

Banks established a blindfold speed record for checkers, winning 17, and drawing in three, in 2 hours and 35 minutes. The previous record in a similar exhibition that produced creditable scores was 64 hours.

TURN ON HEAT NEXT TRIP

Robert Stewart of Scotland, has agreed to meet the winner of a 40-game series now being held in Detroit between Banks and Asa Long, of Toledo. The match will be held in London in the spring of 1936, and the winner will have a clear claim to the world championship.

"You will note that Stewart is to engage Long or myself in the spring," smiled Banks. Banks claims that Stewart froze him out in their match in Glasgow in February, 1922. It was one of the closest in history, Stewart, who is now 62, winning, 2-1, with 27 draws.

"Stewart was used to it, but I had all but contracted pneumonia after 12 days in a hall in which it was so cold that we could see our breath," declared Banks. "I finally got to moving in 10 seconds to get it over with."

"I'm going to put that in my book. Heat is a fundamental for concentration."

At 7, Banks was giving blindfold exhibitions in the neighborhood. He started giving public exhibitions at 13, and has been at it almost continuously since he was 16. He is 47 now.

Banks, who claims the world chess championship, is the only top-notch checker player who has participated in major chess tournaments and made room for himself. He won one of the two matches Frank J. Marshall, the American

TRANSFER RULE HITS 66 Gopher GRIDIRON STARS

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Harvard's next football coach and the fate of six Minnesota gridiron stars were the chief topics of discussion at the annual Big Ten meeting today.

The United Press has learned from a reliable source that Harvard's next coach will be a Harvard man, and that his chief assistant most likely will be George "Potsy" Clark, former Kansas coach, who piloted the Detroit professional team this season.

One of the Harvard men prominently mentioned for the head coaching job is Charlie Buell, quarterback of a decade ago.

The faculty representatives held three-hour sessions last night regarding the Big Ten's rule which provides for only three years of varsity competition, in which intercollegiate competition between freshmen players counts as a year of varsity participation.

It was learned reliably that the Big Ten will make no special rule to apply to Minnesota's six transfers from other colleges, which permit freshmen competition. The application of this rule closes the Minnesota careers of Bill Bevan, All-American guard; Stan Kostka, fullback; George Swendsen, tackle; Art Clarkson, fullback, and Vernon Oech, guard, all transfers. In addition, J. Bevan, guard, will lose a year of varsity competition, but still has another year to play.

Steps to curbing thinking at Big Ten games will be taken next season. Athletic directors agreed that drinking increased considerably last season and decided to take "positive measures toward reducing drinking."

Use Pro Rules In Jaysee Game Tuesday

Chaffey and Citrus, runners-up for the Eastern Jaysee conference football title decided today by Santa Ana and Riverside, will play benefit game at Ontario Tuesday afternoon.

The post-season contest has been arranged by Coaches Burt Heiser and Al Claves to increase the treasuries of their respective schools.

Professional rules will be in effect. These differ from collegiate regulations in that (1) a pass can be made from any position behind the line of scrimmage; (2) the dead ball rule is not in force and a fumble can be run for a touchdown if the path is clear; (3) hurdlings are allowed; (4) goal posts are on the goal line instead of 10 yards back.

To avoid moving the goal posts for this particular game, the two coaches have agreed that when a team tries for a field goal, the ball will be advanced 10 yards.

RULE TO BAN 'TENNIS BUMS'

WRITERS NAME ORANGE LEAGUE ALL-STAR TEAM

Sport writers of Orange county's four daily newspapers today brave the wrath of conference football players, and the scorn of coaches and fans, by presenting what is still of all "expert" creations, two all-Orange league teams.

In the manner befitting a champion, Anaheim's Colonists dominate the selections. Four members of the undefeated Glover machine were voted first string berths. Tustin players landed three places. Orange got two, Garden Grove one and Brea-Olinda one.

To determine positions, first team votes counted one point and second team ballots one-half point. The teams:

Player	Position	School
Valentine	End	Orange
Forbes	End	Tustin
Roquet	Tackle	Anaheim
Sweet	Tackle	Brea-Olinda
Bragg	Center	Garden Grove
Ochoa	Quarter	Anaheim
Francis	Halfback	Tustin
Fee	Halfback	Anaheim
McCart	Fullback	Orange

SECOND TEAM
Player Position School
Wilson End Garden Grove
Beat End Anaheim
Devine Tackle Garden Grove
Stanley Tackle Orange
Tevishma Guard Anaheim
King Guard Brea-Olinda
Smith Quarter Tustin
Irwin Quarter Valencia
Trop Half Newport Harbor
Dougan Fullback Anaheim

Half-a-vote decided two first team places, and the same margin decided no less than three second team spots.

Judging from the ballots of the scribes, the outstanding players in the league were Harvey Sweet, Brea-Olinda tackle; Dean McCarter, Tustin back, and Oliver McCarter, who was moved from quarterback berth to fullback where his triple-threat qualifications could be utilized to advantage. These three boys were unanimous choices. It was the second time in two years Tustin's Francis was so honored.

Every Center Gets Vote
Russell (Rutty) Roquet, Anaheim tackle, missed one first team vote, as did Wally Fee, Anaheim back, and Frank McMichael, Tustin guard.

Francis and McCarter were rated the league's outstanding backs. McMichael and Sweet the premier linemen.

Every center in the league got a ballot for the pivot berth, second choice votes giving Sam Bragg of Garden Grove the honor over Bob Spray of Tustin.

Because Francis and McCarter were chosen for both quarter and halfback jobs, Franny Ochoa coped the signal-calling berth. The scribes all figured him the logical field leader, though he seldom carried the ball. His blocking and ability to kick points after touchdowns would be an asset to any team. Bob Smith's passing won him recognition as second team quarter. The little Valencia was cool under fire and with a stronger team would have given all the quarterbacks real competition.

Balloting for the end positions was spirited, with Orange's Leslie Valentine getting first call. He was perhaps the most improved player in the conference at the end of the campaign. Bob Forbes of Tustin nosed out Nolan Beat of Anaheim and Bill Greshner of Newport Harbor by the margin of a half-a-vote.

Coaches "Off Spot"
Coaches were not put "on the spot" this year, for which they probably are grateful. The scribes generally believe, however, that the all-star eleven would satisfy any of the league's mentors, any of whom could win the championship with it, and go quite some distance in the C. L. F. playoffs.

The wings would offer a strong defense against running plays, from tackle to tackle the line would be adamant, and with Ochoa directing the attack featuring these fast backs like McCarter, Francis and Fee, two good passers in the first named, McCarter's splendid kicking and line smashing, this team would roll up plenty of points. If the going got too tough the coach could send in Bob Smith to pass, then Beat to replace Valentine to "shoot the zone." The Smith-to-Beat combination would create an aerial sensation seldom seen on an Orange league gridiron.

The following players received honorable mention:
Ends—Greshner, Newport Harbor; Teier, Tustin; Stanley, Tustin; Hennessey, Brea-Olinda; Cowling, Huntington Beach; Hargrove, Valencia.

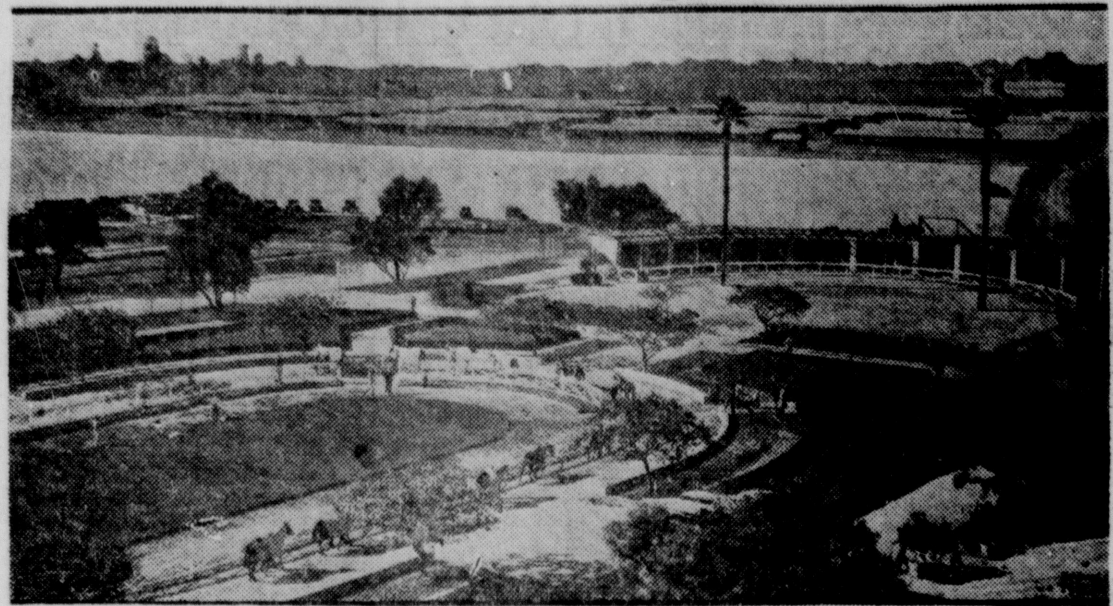

Tackles—Sutherland, Newport Harbor; Sidwell, Garden Grove; Leo, Anaheim.

Guards—Jenkins, Huntington Beach; Hamilton, Brea-Olinda; Ota, Garden Grove.

Centers—Minder, Anaheim; Dever, Orange.

Halfbacks—Phoenix, Newport Harbor; DeBrouwer, Tustin; Villanor, Anaheim; Patrick, Huntington Beach; Tanaka, Anaheim.

Major league racing has returned to California after an absence of many years. Coe string, upon their arrival at the new Santa Anita Park track.

Coach Operated On For Injury to Heel

W. W. (Bill) Foote, Santa Ana high school's football coach and athletic director, was operated on at St. Joseph's hospital today for an injury described by physicians as one of the most unusual in their experience.

The Achilles tendon was so severely ruptured in the heel of Coach Bill Foote's right foot that he will have to wear a cast a month, and it will be another month before he can walk without the aid of crutches.

The manner in which Foote was hurt was almost as unique as the injury itself.

Coach Foote was conducting a gymnasium class on Poly field, and was participating with students in a "touch football" game. Clipped from behind, he suffered what at first was believed only a pulled leg muscle. Physicians indicated the coach might have suffered permanent disability had he not undergone an operation.

REDLANDS FIVE RUNS SAINTS' OPENER, 26-13

Indicating a need of shooting practice, Coach Reese Green's Santa Ana Saints lost both varsity and sophomore basketball games to Redlands high school's crack quintets on the Redlands court last night.

The Santa Ana varsity's floor game was surprisingly smooth for this early in the season, but Guard Leonard Lockhart was the only Saint cager who could hit the basket. Redlands won, 26-13.

The Saint sophomores did not fare as well as their varsity. They were badly outplayed in both halves, losing 31-10.

Redlands' ace forward, Paul, flashed the same ability he showed in the Huntington Beach Invitational tournament last year. It was through his 14 points that the inland varsity outlasted the Saints.

Kenneth Nisley and Erwin Youel, potential regulars at forward on the Saint varsity which plays San Diego in its first league game next Friday, were off form, Nisley caging only a field goal and Youel going pointless. Bob Browning, lanky center, was awarded six foul shots but sank only one.

The lineups:

JACKETS OPEN HOOP SEASON WITH LOSS

FULLERTON, Dec. 8.—With only a week's practice behind, Coach Nunn's Fullerton Yellowjackets held Ken Mason's Compton Tartars to a 32 to 20 count in their first regular basketball game of the season here yesterday.

Compton has been practicing during past few months and has attained considerable more floor knowledge than the Hornets. Seven Tartar first stringers are from Indiana and several of these sharpshooters have displaced last year's regulars.

Fullerton held its own with the Tartar second string, trailing 15-13 at halftime. Fullerton managed to hold the count down until the last few minutes of play when the Tartars began to sink from all angles.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Final arrangements were made today in the deal through which ownership of the Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast league changed hands, passing from the control of Tom Turner, its president for many years.

E. J. Scheffer, Portland manufacturer, announced that he and associates have purchased 90 per cent of the stock in the club. The price, he said, was not announced, but it was estimated to have been between $40,000 and $50,000 in cash. For that sum the new owners will acquire the club franchise, 16 players, the Vaughn street baseball park and some property adjoining the park.

John ("Buddy") Ryan, former Portland player who directed the Sacramento team for nine years, will manage the team next season, Scheffer announced.

TOURNEY LIKE WIMBLEDON IS PLAN FOR U.S.

BY HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association, whose members are the caliphs of the court, today will meet in the Persian, Pineapple or Pompeian room of the Vanderbilt hotel, and take steps to eliminate those most engaging fellows, the "tennis bums."

"Tennis bums" is the term critical roll use to describe those foam-rimmed young men who, armed with a good forehead, a fair backhand, the latest dance steps, a romantic heart and expensive tastes, play tennis—at somebody else's expense—the year-round. For a young man with a nice profile, graceful table manners and a smooth line, "tennis bumming" is probably the ideal life.

It's Miami, Havana and Jamaica in the winter; Montreal, Westchester and Newport in the summer. And—if he is proficient enough, there's always a trip to Europe or Australia to furnish an enjoyable interlude.

Allow "Bumming" 2 Months
The executive committee, according to Walter Merrill Hall who, as president of the U. S. L.T.A., is in a position to know, intends to put a stop to this, unless the balloting takes an unexpected turn today, the committee will promulgate a rule forbidding a player, boy or girl, from "tennis bumming" more than two months a year. For eight weeks, but no more, they will accept traveling expenses, room and board. After that, any tournaments they enter must be entirely on their own.

This rule will be adopted because, to use Hall's own words, "we are tired of having tennis, a fine amateur sport, cluttered up with a bunch of semi-pros."

Asked if he didn't think the rule would send several of America's most capable players scurrying into the professional ranks, Hall said:

"Yes, it probably will, but we will be glad to have the semi-pros become out-and-out professionals. It will be better for tennis. Some already have turned professional, knowing we were going to take this step."

Rule Hits Tourneys
Mr. Hall, of course, wasn't referring to George (Napper) Lott and Lester Stoen. As everyone knows, Mr. Lott played amateur tennis solely because of his love for the game and the opportunity it provided him to study the flora and fauna of the various states.

This broadside at "tennis bums" is certain to work havoc with many tennis tournaments. Clubs whose tourneys have always drawn a National field will find themselves minus top-ranking players, and a tourney minus the stars doesn't attract much at the gate. And tournaments that don't draw are soon abandoned.

The executive committee also will consider the advisability of creating an American Wimbledon by combining the men's and women's tournaments into one big two-weeks' stand. This would be a sensible move, for more than one reason. In the first place, the women's tournament is not attractive enough to draw alone. In the second, one big tournament, with women and men stars competing daily, would offer customers a much more interesting program. Third, it would constitute a saving in money and time all around.

BEACH COUNCIL BACKS PLAN ON HOLIDAY LIGHTS

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 8.—The city of Seal Beach will enter into the program of lighting the Coast highway during the Christmas season, it was decided at the regular meeting of the city council Thursday night. Water Superintendent C. L. Meckham explained to the council the plan now under way in which the various civic organizations and business houses will participate.

The city will have a decorated Christmas tree atop the large Neon sign at Main street and the Coast highway. A decoration of some sort is also planned for the entrance to the city from Second street from Long Beach. As usual the city will have its decorated tree on the outside balcony over the main entrance to the city hall. A large tree is also planned for the space at the entrance to the pier at Ocean avenue and Main street. Merchants are to be solicited for funds to supply trees to attach to the ornamental light standards on Main street. The trees will be lighted at night. The merchants at the east entrance to the city will be asked to decorate the "Y" at the intersection of Electric avenue with the Coast highway.

Following receipt of a letter from Natt Neff of the county road department requesting an itemized bill for all expenses incurred to date in the repair work now being done with county equipment of Electric avenue, the street committee was authorized to audit the bills and have the street superintendent prepare the itemized bill to send to the county.

The work of repairing the street is being done with this city's share of the gas tax funds. Competition of the gas is expected within a few days as the roads have been plowed and graded and are now being oiled.

A communication was received from the fire department to the council that the old Tower Cafe building at the corner of Bay boulevard and Electric avenue is a menace to public safety. The building was partially wrecked during the earthquake and has not been repaired. Its condition makes it hazardous for pedestrians walking on the sidewalk beside the building, the report stated. The building is the property of the BaySide Land company here.

The city auditor's report for the quarter ending September 30 of this year was presented to the council. The report showed that the general fund income for the period has exceeded the amount estimated in the budget by over $2200. This is accounted for by the increase in the amount received for city licenses from the tango parlors and chip games. It was stated. Income from city funds was $272 less than anticipated, although motor vehicle fines were close to the amount set up in the budget. All disbursements from the general fund were less than that set up in the budget, although an expenditure was noted for $1,340 for the comfort station which was not provided for. Also a transfer of $1000 was made from the general fund to the special street fund.

BOOK REVIEWS

BY MARY BURKE KING

"Matador," by Marguerite Steen, published by Little, Brown and Company.

This is the story of a Spanish master of the bull ring. A man who had retired at the time the story opens, but is still well remembered by the populace, for he pleased them mightily for many years. Three things were as necessary to Done Jose as air and bread and water are necessary to other men, the author tells us in the opening. They were "the defense of his equals, the respect of his superiors and the obsequiousness of his inferiors." He would not have raised his little finger to command any one of them; each was valuable, save as a spontaneous tribute to a reputation which had once resounded through the length and breadth of the country.

At the end of the story we see Don Jose no longer interested in those three things which had been so necessary to him, retired from his home in the center of the life of Granada to a country estate and dependent upon a spiritual young girl who is devoted to him as a daughter is devoted to a father. He had said that in bringing her to his house he had brought an angel to his house. A few years before he would not have welcomed an angel; but he learned the bitter lesson of the failure of human ties, and returned at last to the spiritual life which was so beautifully embodied in the young girl, Pilar. Between these two pictures of Pilar a metamorphosis has taken place. We see a poignant and human story unfolded.

The book is not a presentation of a typical bull fighter. The typical is included, in abundance, to augment our impression of the customs of bull ring and the conduct of the fighters. The story is the story of a father's devotion and pride and his bitter disappointment. The scene where Don Jose is watching the son, from whom he had hoped so much, disgrace himself in the ring, in his own village, and murmurs to himself, "Whatever may come of this, I am my boy, and I love you as I love my own body; only save yourself, only save yourself."

Don Jose had two other sons, all three were equally disappointing to him.

The story is moving and powerful, the characters live. As for the pictures, the presentation of a Spanish bull fight crowd is excellent. The sensitive reaction to the fineness of the matador is so well presented as to greatly increase one's understanding of and respect for the crowd at least which makes up the audience at this great national sport. They have their appreciation to a critical degree not equaled by the fans of any sport in this country. This description will augment the understanding of those who have gone deeply enough into the custom to at least have read "Death in the Afternoon."

The Cold Journey, by Grace Zaring Stone, published by William Morrow & Co.

"The Cold Journey" is a historical novel of a period in the history of this country when legend and history are interwoven. It is the period of the French and Indian war. The story describes the raid on the town of Redfield, Mass., by the French and their Indian allies. Some of the inhabitants were killed but most of them were taken captive and carried to Canada where they were held for ransom. By the terms of the agreement between the French and the Indians, the captives were the property of the Indians. Therefore the French were powerless to interfere in their treatment except in such cases as the ones where the Indians were willing to accept the payments which the French themselves in several cases made. In the majority of cases, however, the ransom was paid by the colony from which the captives had been abducted, in some cases the captives remained the slaves of the Indians. The book derives its title from the long journey which these people were forced to make into Canada.

A number of characters are introduced and made to live for so that we are interested in their adventures, and fate. Outstanding are the minister, Mr. Chapman, the school master and his wife, and Mrs. Peckworth who has a two day old baby which the Indians claim and do not intend to give up. The story of this clash of wills and the mother's triumph is true to the best traditions of the pioneer mother.

There is a contrast in civilizations presented which one has reason to suspect is not altogether impartial. Certainly Father Julien, who is contrasted with Mr. Chapman, is a noble character. One of the finest passages in the book is the scene in the church when Mr. Chapman goes to view the body of Father Julien, shrunken so small by his disease that a child's coffin was his final resting place. The description of his feet which still seemed to live, ready to start off on a long journey, is the climax of this scene.

The Vatican: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow, by George Selig, published by Harpers.

This is a book which satisfies much curiosity and answers many questions. It is a comprehensive history of the Vatican, its political development, the rise of tradition and rules, the present regime, recent events which have interested the world in the position of the Catholic church in Germany, in Mexico, in Italy. The author, with the judgment for the interest of the public, goes minutely into the rites and customs which are observed on the death of a pope and the conclave of cardinals who elect the new pope. In telling the rules he tells, wherever it is interesting or important, the origin of the rule. And thereby hangs many an interesting tale. The book is not a churchman's history of his church, although it will doubtless interest him, but it will be of most interest to those who feel they know very little about the oldest church in the world.

Stanley Walker, in his advice to young men going into journalism, told them to learn something about church ritual and terminology for he would need it. Sometimes the lack of sufficient knowledge has caused some shameful errors. Here in this book is an opportunity to supply some of that knowledge, although there is nothing so dry as an index of terms.

In the olden days the popes and the cardinals used to live in great luxury. There is a description of the ritual of dining in those days and someone wrote a two volume treatise on one branch of the household ceremony as a guide for those who were charged with those particular duties. The last three popes, however, have lived modestly and have nullified the rule that the pope must eat alone. Plus the Abbe Cigala has written an interesting account of the schedule and daily habits of Pius X, a portion of which is reprinted in the book. "Pius went far in breaking traditions when he invited his two sisters to eat with him once a week. Once he wanted them to cook his rice and peas so that he could dismiss the kitchen staff, but old system remain there. Pius had found luxury. Despite Leo's frugality there had remained seven chefs. "What are they for?" exclaimed Pius. "Why seven chefs to cook a little bouillon and two eggs?"

The book will clear away many cobwebs of misunderstanding and thousands outside the Catholic church who have been stirred by its stand against Hitler and Mussolini and its social attitudes in late few years. The Vatican has become democratic and that fact cannot but temper the intolerance of a Protestant nation of democrats.

By MISS BEULAH MAY

THE OXEN

Christmas Eve, and twelve of the clock.
"Now they are all on their knees,"

An elder said as we sat in a flock
By the embers in hearthside ease.

We pictured the meek mild creatures
They dwell in their strawy pen.
Nor did it occur to one of us there
To doubt they were kneeling then.

So fair a fancy few would weave
In these years. Yet, I feel,
If some one said on Christmas Eve,
"Come see the oxen kneel!"

"In the lonely barton by yonder cove"

Our childhood used to know,"
I should go with him in the gloom,
Hoping it might be so.

—Thomas Hardy.

UNTO US A SON IS BORN
Given, not lent,
And not withdrawn—once sent,
This infant of mankind, this One,
Is still the little welcome Son.

New every year,
New born and newly dear,
He comes with tidings and a song,
The ages long, the ages long.

Even as the old
Keen winter is not cold
As childhood is so fresh, foreseen,
And spring in the familiar green.

Sudden as sweet
Come the expected feet,
All joy is young, and new all art
And He, too, whom we have by heart.

—Alice Meynell.

NEW FEATURES FILM VERSION AT BROADWAY OF CLASSIC TO ON THURSDAY OPEN THURSDAY

Comedy, a detective mystery and gripping drama mingle with the excitement of the baseball field in "Death on the Diamond," new thriller which opens at the Broadway theater for a three-day engagement Thursday with a second feature, "Have a Heart," Jean Parker's starring vehicle.

Filmed with the cooperation of the St. Louis Cardinals, who are seen in the picture, "Death on the Diamond" deals with mysterious crimes during a pennant race. Gamblers have bet heavily against the Cardinals, and when mysterious murders occur in the team more than 30 are suspected. The action is blended with hilarious comedy and thrills of actual baseball contests. The cast includes Robert Young in the male lead, Madge Evans, David Landau, Paul Kelly, Ted Healy, Edward Brophy, Mickey Rooney, Ralph Bushman, Pat Flaherty, Willard Robertson, Pat O'Malley and others.

The wholesome theme of "Have a Heart" concerns the regeneration of a crippled girl through a romance that gives her the will to overcome her handicap and marry the man of her heart. Into the simple plot are packed comedy, pathos, tragedy, hope and courage, with the colorful background of New York's lower Eastside district. The male lead is played by James Dunn, while others featured are Una Merkel and Stuart Erwin in hilarious antics, Willard Robertson, Muriel Evans, Edward Brophy and Paul Page.

Short subjects will be included on the bill.

COLBERT FILM NOW SHOWING PLEASES FANS

One of the most heart-stirring dramas which has played in Santa Ana for many months is the current attraction at the West Coast theater. The picture featured is "Imitation of Life," taken from the Fannie Hurst novel and starring Claudette Colbert and Warren William. The film ends Wednesday night.

Claudette Colbert steps into her emotional role and makes it an outstanding characterization. She pictures the embodiment of all young womanhood struggling with the problems of love and life to provide a livelihood for herself and baby daughter and gaining only a love-starved existence—an imitation of life.

Louise Beaver, as the colored woman whose secret recipe for pancakes makes her and Miss Colbert wealthy after a series of struggles, gives a human and touching portrayal. Her heart-break when her daughter disowns her supplies the most dramatic scenes in the film.

Ned Sparks, frozen-faced comedian, enlivens the picture with touches of comedy. Others featured in the picture are Baby Jane, Rochelle Hudson, Alan Hale, Henry Armetta, Henry Kolker, and a score of others.

Short subjects include a sport reel, "Good Badminton," showing champions in action, a laugh novelty, "Dumbell Letters," and World News.

WITH ALL the gaily, whimsical imagination, tempestuous moods and lovable nature that has endeared her to fiction readers for a quarter of a century, "Anne of Green Gables" has come to life in a motion picture film which opens a week's engagement at the West Coast theater next Thursday.

In a picture which is a worthy successor to "Little Women," RKO-Radio presents the orphan heroine whom Mark Twain once described as the "dearest and most moving" and delightful child of fiction since the immortal Alice. Roles in the picture are portrayed by a cast including Anne Shirley, Tom Brown, O. P. Heggie, Helen Westley, Sara Haden and others.

The story reveals the transformation wrought by the orphan heroine in the lives of the spinster and her bachelor brother, who adopt her. It also traces a delightful boy and girl romance which has its inception in a country school friendship.

Short subjects include a Silly Symphony cartoon, "Goddess of Spring," a monkey comedy, "Monkey Shines," a See America First travelogue, "Pilgrim Days," and World News.

STARS OF "THIN MAN" IN FILM AT BROADWAY

Out of the tense drama of the courtroom, the MGM studios have brought the powerful story of "Evelyn Prentice," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, which opens a four-day engagement at the Broadway theater tomorrow.

The picture marks the third appearance of Powell and Miss Loy as a co-starring team, which made screen history in "Manhattan Melodrama" and "The Thin Man."

"Evelyn Prentice" presents Powell as a noted criminal attorney with a lovely and dutiful wife who, through a momentary indiscretion, becomes involved in a scandalous murder case. The wife, portrayed by Miss Loy, sees another woman brought to trial for a crime which she, herself, believes she has committed. She and the "other woman" both win vindication, through the legal genius of the great criminal attorney in a spectacular court room climax.

Una Merkel appears as Miss Loy's wise-cracking and faithful friend, and others in the supporting cast include Henry Wadsworth, Isabel Jewell, Harvey Stephens, Rosalind Russell, Edward Brophy, Cora Sue Collins and Jessie Ralph.

Short subjects will include a musical with Phil Spitalny and His Ladies Who Play, a Columbia sport reel, "Flying Pigskins," a colorone cartoon, "A Toyland Broadcast," and Register World News events.

W. R. C. Pioneers Hold
Annual Christmas
Gift Exchange

Approach of the Christmas season has a large part in the enjoyment of W. R. C. Pioneer club members in the December meeting which they shared Thursday in the home of Mrs. Asa Vandermast, 425 South Birch street. So many members who have been unable to attend for some time, were out for the annual Christmas party, that it proved a doubly pleasant affair.

Mrs. George Mosbaugh conducted the short business session in which Mrs. Vandermast led in the Lord's Prayer and Mrs. Annie Arnold directed the flag salute. Annual election followed, and members were unanimous in returning to office those who have served so faithfully during the year just coming to a close.

As a result the Pioneer club will continue to function under the presidency of Mrs. Mosbaugh with Mrs. Sarah Alford, vice president; Mrs. Vandermast, chaplain; Mrs. Helen Kellogg Aubin, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Annie Arnold, patriotic instructor and press chairman.

The Christmas spirit which had found expression in the decorative appointments of the home, was given emphasis during the remainder of the afternoon when annual gift exchange was attached to each package, and then members took turn in drawing one of the cords and securing a surprise gift.

Mrs. Vandermast had the assistance of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Prince, and her granddaughter-in-law, Mrs. Louis Vandermast, in serving the inviting tea menu with which the afternoon came to a close. It was at this time that Mrs. Aubin presented a delicious angel food cake to Mrs. Doris Spangler, who recently celebrated her 81st birthday anniversary. Mingled with the decorations of the cake were half a dozen birthday candles each expressing good wishes.

The Pioneer club members will hold their January meeting with Mrs. Vandermast also, on Thursday, January 3. Those present at the Christmas party in addition to the hostess were Mesdames George Mosbaugh, Sarah Alford, Helen Aubin, Annie Arnold, Anna Pendleton, Rosa Diers, Cassie Ferguson, Cora Myers, Fannie Newman, Maude Wallace, Mae West, Lydia Phipps, Fannie Cunningham, Ella Wilson, Florence Elwell, Margaret Culver, Hannah Huntington, Marietta Phillips, Alice Kryll, Doris Spangler, Martha Ritchey, Joanna Cole and Mary Ramsdale, members, Mrs. Elizabeth Birkhead, "official trailer," Mrs. W. N. Prince and Mrs. Louis Vandermast, guests.

D. A. V. Auxiliary

Not only were half a dozen new members initiated into Women's auxiliary to Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V., at its meeting Wednesday night in Knights of Columbus hall, but applications were read for several others.

Mrs. Mary Fisher, chapter commander, conducted the business session, introducing special guests of the evening, Mrs. Minnie F. Ragon of Long Beach, state senior vice-commander and membership chairman, and Mrs. Spencer, commander of Long Beach auxiliary.

Mrs. Ragon conducted ceremonies which admitted to membership, Mesdames Ruth Hertz, Elizabeth Hart and Elaine Young of Santa Ana; Nella Norton, Balboa Island, Ivy Hosken, Fullerton, and Edna Mae Boone, Costa Mesa. Applications for membership were read from Nettie Bauman, Grace Denney and Marie Papp, Orange, and Florence Lühring, Santa Ana.

In discussing membership, Mrs. Ragon complimented Jack Fisher auxiliary upon having attained 50 per cent of its membership quota within the time limit set by the National Department. She also told details of her official trip through northern California with visits to chapters and to Veterans' hospitals.

Committee reports showed much activity during the Thanksgiving season, with many baskets and articles of clothing distributed among disabled veterans and their families. Mrs. Isabel Bryan and Mrs. Esther Kemper, team captains in the membership campaign, reported a tie, each side having secured the same number of new members.

Final plans were made for the Christmas party for all disabled veterans in Orange county and their families, to be held December 15 at 7 p. m. in Knights of Columbus hall. There will be a program with toys and candy for children, and refreshments for all. Further suggesting the approaching Christmas celebration was the program given at the close of the business session, when chapter and auxiliary members met for mutual enjoyment of the entertainment.

Effective Ceremony
Precedes Card
Play at Annual Party

Turning on a blaze of lights that decked a large Christmas tree last night, American Legion Auxiliary members conducted a pretty ceremony to precede card play at an annual holiday party in Veterans' hall.

After guests had found their places at 50 tables required for the games, hall lights were turned off to be replaced by the effective glow of many twinkling bulbs on the tree. During this interval a recording, "Silent Night," sung by Madame Schumann-Hinrich was heard.

Prizes in the various card contests were won by Mrs. Robert Sandon, high in contract; Betty Murphy, high in auction; Mrs. Meyer, high in 500; Charles Leimer and Dr. Fred K. Haiber, high in pinochle. Mrs. Cecil M. Featherly won a cedar chest filled with many articles.

After refreshments, a special prize was given to the winner of the evening. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Proceeds from the successful affair go to the auxiliary's welfare fund. Mrs. George Sullivan, general chairman of the party, had assistance of a committee composed of Mesdames Ann Leimer, Ruth Anderson, Kay Rasmussen, Ann Scudder, Ester Halber, Dorothy Tubbs, Emma Penn, Mary Adrain.

Ebbel Members to Hear
Prominent Speaker
Monday

Bringing a program on "Dickens and the Spirit of Christmas," Louise Ward Watkins, author, lecturer and civic leader, will be speaker Monday afternoon at a meeting of Ebbel society scheduled for 2 o'clock in the clubhouse.

Mrs. Watkins is now entering her fourth consecutive year as president of the Friday Morning club of Los Angeles. It has been said of her: "Her voice has the clear smoothness of polished silver. She can be heard above the most clamorous noise and din. She has the gift of visualizing people, and of being able to reproduce the famous personages of her lectures as living souls, not mere lay figures veiled with sentimental reverence. She presents them as though they were characters in a drama. She tells us how they dressed, what they talked about, their intimate mannerisms, eccentricities, virtues and vices."

"Mrs. Watkins has woven the pattern of these interesting lives into a series of unique lectures that are a rich mosaic of historically accurate reminiscences, enriched by shrewd observation and spiced with humor. Her audience is transported into another world—a world of continual surprise—a world of poetry and delight!"

The program will be preceded by the usual business meeting, with the president, Mrs. C. V. Davis, in charge.

composed of Virginia Wilber, Maurine Johnston, Mary Toyoda, Elaine Owens, Eleanor Burkett, Sylvia White, Bob Livingston, Richard Eggleston and David Craighead, accompanist. Alice Imamoto of Garden Grove played a piano solo.

The Naomi Fletcher chapter of the guild gave a play, "The Late Sally." In the cast were the Misses Martha Jane Farrell, Lenore Marchena, Mary Burney, Betty DeWolfe, chant, Ruth B. Sackett, Barbara Rowell, Barbara Stewart and Doris Cave.

Yorba Linda Couple
Wedded Quietly
In Arizona

Temporarily located in Yorba Linda, with plans to establish their home in Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Johnson are receiving congratulations as bridegroom and bride of Friday, November 30.

The marriage of Miss Wanda Lowry and Mr. Johnson, son of Mrs. Maud Johnson of Yorba Linda took place in Yuma, Ariz. First Methodist parsonage of that city was setting for the quiet ceremony, read by the Rev. Randall R. Scott. The bride wore a frock in dull gold crepe with a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Johnson has lived in Yorba Linda since he was a very small boy, attending grammar school in that community and taking his high school studies at Fullerton Union High school. He is employed as mechanic with Cons Brothers Chevrolet Agency in Anaheim.

The new Mrs. Johnson has lived in Yorba Linda for the past few years, coming to Southern California from Texas.

S. S. Class Arranges
Turkey Menu
To Surprise Hostess

When members of Mrs. Henry Donan's class of Spurgeon Memorial Sunday school accepted her invitation to hold their Christmas party this week in her home, 1132 West Pine street, they went ahead with secret plans to make it a true Yuletide affair.

This was done by making the covered dish luncheon an actual Christmas feast, several of the members going together to provide roast turkey and others making their contributions of dishes to accompany the fowl. There were 58 members present to enjoy the day, for which Mrs. Donan decked her home with cottons and poinsettias, and provided a sparkling Christmas tree.

During morning hours, all worked on piecing a small quilt to be presented to the future grandchild of the hostess. Luncheon at noon was served buffet style, guests repaying with their filled plates to small tables, spread with pretty linens and grouped in friendly fashion amidst the Christmas greens.

The Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of the church, was a special guest, accompanying Mrs. Aker to the luncheon and afternoon program, and enjoying the exchange of gifts heaped on the big table near the Christmas tree.

Class Dinner Meeting
Features Variety
Program

Featured by a one-act play "Ain't It Always That Way?" directed by Gladys Shafer and dramatized by Robert Speed, the dinner of the Hillclimber's class at the United Presbyterian church was held last night in the church banquet hall.

The scene of the play was in the office of Justice of the Peace Benja. Widlow, in the Cumberland Mountains, as the roles were taken by Arthur Collins, Gertrude Horn and R. Carson Smith, all prominent in Santa Ana dramatic circles.

Another play was given at the close of the program under the direction of Harry Leighton. Characters in "Acting Characters" were Johnny Newmyer, Frances Roper, Joe Casey, Jean De Witt, and Joe Foster.

Other entertainment included novelty numbers by Fred Engle, steel guitar numbers by Glen Layton, character readings by Wharton James, and vocal duet by Ellen and Catherine Collins. R. Carson Smith, class instructor, and Rod Smiley, president, were in charge of the affair.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

A "JUST RIGHT" FROCK FOR SCHOOL OR PLAY
PATTERN 2078
BY ANNE ADAMS

"This is the way we're dressed for play," says little sister of her cunning bloomers frock and "This is the way we go to school," her slightly older sister might add. For if mother looked and looked it would be hard to find a more suitable play or school frock. The demurely simple, round collar is "just right" for wee girls. Stitched seamings emphasize the importance of the quaint yoke with its nice double points—two jaunty inverted pleats give plenty of freedom to the skirt—and the smart patch pockets are just as smart on little girls' clothes as they are on mother's this season. Short sleeves may be made with the pattern.

Pattern 2078 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 6 requires 2-1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
EAT AND GROW SLIM
Dinner
1 cup diluted cream of tomato soup (canned)
2 small lamb chops, lean part only
4 Tbsps. string beans
Large serving chopped cooked spinach
1 square of butter for vegetable
Celery and radishes or simple green salad with diet dressing
Serving of whipped raspberry jello without cream
Black coffee or clear tea, no sugar
Calory total 480.

To serve the family this dinner simply add a spoonful of whipped cream to each serving of soup. Baked potatoes with the chops, raisins and butter. Cream with the raspberry jello and cookies or cake.

For rapid, safe loss of weight you need a more restricted diet. . . . the Eat and Grow Slim is to stay down after you get there. . . . In the Safe and Sane Reducing Diet you will find exactly what you need if you weigh too much because you eat food too rich, and most likely too much of it.

You may have a copy of this diet by writing for it, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

But you can't fly with one wing. Having the diet, you should have the calory list (380 items) so you can see at a glance what you are doing with your meal. This list can be sent along with the diet sheet, just ask for it.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Mince Meat Cookies
1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs, well beaten
1 tsp. soda
1 1/2 Tbsps. hot water
1 1/2 cups flour
1-2 tsp. salt
1 cup mince meat
1 cup chopped walnut meats.

Cream shortening and sugar, and add the beaten eggs. Mix soda and hot water and stir into mixture. Sift flour and salt and add, when smoothly mixed, stir in the mince meat and chopped nuts, and cook as drop cookies.

These little figure wreckers have a calory value of 85 each.

Beef Stew, Italian Style
3 pounds boneless beef for stew
1 cup olive oil
2 large onions and 2 buttons garlic
1 quart can tomatoes
1 can tomato sauce
Salt, pepper and cayenne to taste
1 tsp. rosemary (dried herb)
1-2 tsp. each, allspice, cloves and nutmeg
Hot water ad lib
Quantity of cooked macaroni.

Have meat cut in small cubes, saute in hot oil, take out and fry the onion and garlic, sliced fine. Put back meat, add all other ingredients and cook slowly for 15 minutes, then cover with hot water and simmer until meat is tender. Thicken gravy and serve the stew over the hot cooked macaroni if kitchen serving is used, or arrange macaroni in border on platter with stew and gravy in center.

This is wonderful food, but it does need the rosemary.

Pester your grocer until he stocks it for you and all the other women who would use it if they could only buy it.

Au revoir until Monday.

ANN MEREDITH.

TENT REVIVAL MAY COME TO CLOSE SUNDAY

Evangelist Everett B. Parrott today announced two special revival services for Sunday in the Big Tent Cathedral at First street and Orange avenue, which he said may mark the close of his revival campaign in Santa Ana. Preparations were therefore being made for a record attendance.

His subject for the 2:30 afternoon mass meeting will be "The Shepherd and the Sheep." Those who have followed the ministry of the Rev. Mr. Parrott in previous campaigns declare this to be the last sermon he has delivered.

"Chickens Come Home to Roost," is the subject of the big evangelistic service which begins at 7:30 p. m. An editor of a prominent newspaper recently was quoted as saying, after hearing the evangelist preach this sermon, "It is the greatest sermon of that kind that I have ever heard. It should be in print and every young person in our country should be invited to read it. If they would not read it by choice, they should be made to read it."

A special invitation has been extended to the young people of Orange county to attend this service. The 50-piece orchestra under the direction of Howard Green will present a 30-minute sacred concert preceding both services.

WOMAN TO PREACH AT GOSPEL CHURCH

Evangelist Esther L. Rusthol, member of the Parrott revival party, will deliver the sermon at the Full Gospel church, 1600 West Third street, Sunday at 10:45 a. m. It was announced today by the Rev. J. C. Green, pastor. Her subject will be, "What's On Your Mind?"

"Mrs. Rusthol, with her husband, the Rev. Howard W. Rusthol, have gained many friends in Orange county through the radio programs they presented daily over KREG. The public has been invited to come and meet her and hear her preach," said the Rev. Mr. Green. Sunday school will be held in the church at 9:30 a. m. Other services are in the Big Tent Cathedral of the Rev. Mr. Parrott, at First street and Orange avenue.

Unusual Band to Play Monday at Christian Church

A 15 instrument accordion band from Long Beach will play for the First Christian church educational night program at 7:30 p. m. next Monday, according to announcement today by Frank S. Pierce who is in charge of the programs.

This program of music is furnished by the Christian Chums class of young men which meets every Sunday morning in the basement of the church under the leadership of M. D. Haskell.

"The accordion band is directed by Miguel Verdugo, who is a very fine musician and has a great deal of show work in years gone by," Pierce said. "The entire band is made up of some of his students."

"Beside the band there will be some talent on the program from the Christian Chums class including vocal and instrumental solos, readings and other interesting features."

"James Downey, president of the class, gives a special invitation to the public and also to the friends and parents of the young men in the class. There will be no charge for the program, but a silver offering will be taken at the door to help the expense."

The Christian As Teacher

Text: Matt. 7:24-29; Acts 18:24-28.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 9.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Witnessing and teaching have been closely related in the founding of Christianity and in its progress. The true witness is a teacher, and the true teacher is a witness.

Here, in two passages—one from the Gospels and one from the Book of the Acts—we have insistence on the power of teaching. Perhaps it should be said that we have insistence on the power of learning.

Jesus, in the passage from Matthew's Gospel, is speaking of the difference that there is among hearers. Even a great teacher cannot do much for those unwilling to learn.

The man in contact with a great teacher, who is eager to know and to put in practice the things that the master has to teach, is like a wise man who builds his house upon a rock—that is, upon a sure foundation.

Whereas a man who hears the teacher, but who pays little heed, and who has no purpose to put the teachings into practice, is like a foolish man who builds his house upon the sands, where the winds and floods make havoc of it.

Is not this the plain expression of what we see again and again manifested in life?

One boy goes to college, possibly to the finest university in the country. He has every opportunity of learning and improving his mind and fitting himself for life, but he either makes a failure of the thing or he "gets by," deriving little real benefit, even if he does succeed in passing his examinations.

Another student accepts his opportunity with eagerness. Education for him is not a matter merely of fulfilling certain requirements, but he comes to have his mind filled and his soul stirred so that he may go out into life well equipped, not having learned everything, but having found the way of learning and the way of highest improvement and service.

Undoubtedly we have these two sorts even in the school of Christ. There are those whose professed allegiance to Him is formed and lifeless. His teachings have never enriched and glorified their lives.

There are others to whom He is the supreme teacher; to sit at His feet and to learn of Him or to follow in His footsteps in ways of service is the highest quest of life.

Fortunately, we may speak of these things not as matter of theory, but as matters of practice. There are men who so learned of Christ that their lives became an inspiration to others.

It happens here in our lesson that there is reference to one of these who was named Apollos. We do not know a great deal about him. We do know that he was a man of eloquence with whom Paul was sometimes unfavorably compared, because Paul was, apparently, not so eloquent and attractive in his personality.

The power of this man Apollos was that he was well equipped and prepared. He was "mighty in the Scriptures."

How can a man teach unless he has learned well? Possibly we are inclined today to see Paul and Apollos as rivals. In reality in the early church they were men laboring for the common goal of bringing men and women to the way of Christ, and the power of each was the power of what he had learned and what he was enabled to teach others by precepts and by example.

The teacher will find it helpful in connection with this lesson to look up all the New Testament passages in which Apollos is mentioned.

Bible Sunday To Be Observed In Many Churches

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8.—President Franklin D. Roosevelt endorses the observance of Universal Bible Sunday on next Sunday, December 9.

The four hundredth anniversary of the publication of Martin Luther's translation of the Bible will be commemorated in thousands of churches within America and in foreign countries on next Sunday, according to a statement issued by the American Bible society, under whose direction Universal Bible Sunday is promoted, and through whose missionary activities the Bible is circulated in more than forty countries in close to two hundred languages.

In urging the observance of Universal Bible Sunday President Roosevelt says: "The American Bible society has performed a distinctive and helpful service in the dissemination of the Scriptures. Its sponsorship of Bible Sunday will do much to make this a significant day in the church calendar."

The observance of Universal Bible Sunday, in which many of the churches of America will engage on the ninth of December, has my hearty approval."

ROMANY VENGEANCE PORTRAYED IN PLAY

CLAREMONT, Dec. 8. — The lightning of Romany vengeance strikes its mark in the blue serenity of the English countryside in a play called "Gillian," showing at the Padua Hills theater from December 10 through December 21. In it, Mary Kellogg has taken the powerful theme implied in Mary Webb's popular novel, "Seven for a Secret," made it into play form, and the Padua Players are giving it production. The legendary threat of the Romany tribes is powerfully shown protecting friends and dealing vengeance to trespassers. "Gillian" abounds in the constant menace of a wrong-doing which must be avenged. The ingenuity of the solution and the handling of the plot, which if less carefully treated would be "stagey," through Mary Kellogg's "Dickensian" delineation of character, give suspense and strength.

Frances Willard

Student Government
The Frances Willard student government organization is composed of several groups. There are twelve commissioners elected by the student body. Eleven of these form the judicial group to try cases for violation of school rules. Should a student be reported to the commissioners for misconduct of any nature, his case is taken up at their meetings. If the offender is found guilty, he is warned or punished in any way the commissioners think justifiable. If, however suspension or expulsion is deemed advisable, this action is taken by the principal.

The twelfth commissioner is president of the Home Room Representative group, and presides at meetings. This group is made up of one member from each home room. In their meetings they discuss matters pertaining to the good of the school and may make recommendations to other student body organizations. An alternate is elected from each home room to insure representation from each class in these meetings.

The safety patrol is a group of boys and girls selected by the faculty advisor to regulate traffic in the halls, exercise vigilance on the grounds, and report all violations of school rules.

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

THE BIRTH OF CAIN AND ABEL

When God had cast out Adam and Eve for their sin, and closed the Garden of Eden to them, they were forced to toil for their food. "Cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life; thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee; and thou shalt eat the herb of the field; In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken; for dust thou art, and unto dust thou return."—Gen. 3: 17-19. The later fulfillment of this curse is portrayed by the artist in the background of this picture. The world's first family pictured in the foreground includes Cain and Abel, the two sons of Adam and Eve, whose births are recorded in Gen. 4: 1-2. # THE TINYMITES

The big balloon swayed to and fro and Duncy cried, "We're sure to go right now. That bird has spoiled our trip. Is there naught we can do?"

"The bird's still there. He likes to ride. You'd think that he'd be satisfied with pecking holes in our balloon. I hope that he is through!"

"Well, even if he isn't, son, he's done enough to spoil our fun," replied Jack Frost's old helper. "We are at his mercy, now."

"All I suggest is, hang on tight! Even yet things may turn out all right. Fate may be very kind to us and help us out, somehow."

The bird then chirped and took to wing. Cried Duncy, "You're a mean old thing! Don't ever come near us again or we will capture you."

"Then, right into a cage you'll go, and you will not like that, I know," the bird then swooped around a bit. Then out of sight he flew.

Of course the air kept coming out of the balloon, which jerked about and slowly started toward the earth. Cried Duncy, "Look below!"

"Like little specks upon the ground, I see some strange men running round. I think they're trying to find the spot where this balloon will go."

"You're right," replied Coppy. "They're a set. They plan to catch us all. I'll bet." Then Jack

Frost's helper shouted, "Be all ready, tots, to jump."

"The safest way it can be done, I'm pretty sure, is one by one. If we all jumped together, we would get an awful bump."

They neared the earth and one strange man from down below yelled, "If you can, leap right into our net and we will hold you off the ground."

"I'll jump," cried Duncy. "I don't mind." The others followed right behind. What luck they had! Each one was caught. They all were safe and sound.

HAMLET TO BE RADIO SUBJECT THIS EVENING

Forty Miles of Christmas Smiles Will Be Featured by Tri-Weekly Broadcasts

An interview by Louis E. Plummer, principal of Fullerton High school, of Carolina Miller, a member of the William Thornton company, and the Shakespeare Guild of America, on the presentation of "Hamlet" at the Fullerton High school auditorium as an educational feature Monday night, will be broadcast tonight from KREG at 7:15.

Thornton, who will play the leading role and of whom George Warren, critic of San Francisco, said: "Thornton... the harbinger of a new race of giants in the theater," is yet under 30 years of age, but the scope of his study, the depth of his imagination and the fervor of his emotion make such parts as Shylock and Lear as convincing in their terror and pity as the presentation of Hamlet and Lear.

The company has made various appearances in other parts of the state at schools and colleges, but this is the first time it will present Shakespeare to an Orange County audience. Program officials stated that the Fullerton presentation will offer a rare opportunity for Orange County residents to attend because of its excellence.

Ballad Singer to Take Short Leave

The last of the present series of broadcasts by "Bob," the Southern Ballad Singer, from KREG at 8:45 daily except Sundays, will be broadcast tonight at that time, just preceding a leave of absence to be taken by this popular artist.

His return is expected at a later date, but it is probable that his listeners will demand that his return be expedited, it was stated, as each broadcast has resulted in larger responses from his audience.

A "surprise" program is announced for tonight, the nature of which would not be divulged by program officials.

Angelina Will Broadcast Sunday

"Heaven's Last Message to This World" is the topic of another in the interesting series of sermons being delivered by Evangelist E. R. Spear, who conducts the "Radio Lighthouse" broadcast from KREG each Sunday at 6:30 p. m., tomorrow night at that time.

Special music will be offered by J. J. Anderson, marimba-xylophone artist, during the broadcast. Previous presentations of the "Radio Lighthouse" have been highly commended for the excellence of the music and the interesting sermons. It was stated by program officials.

Church Sermons On Air Sunday

Services of the Calvary Church of Santa Ana for tomorrow were announced as follows by the Rev. Frank E. Lindgren, pastor.

The Rev. Joseph S. Placks, a Christian Jew and a former successful St. Louis business man, will deliver sermons at both services. The topic will be: 11 a. m.: "The Church, the Body of Christ." 7 p. m.: "The Romance of the Incarnation."

Both services will be broadcast from KREG.

A LOOK AT UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE VARIOUS RELIEF PROJECTS

There are some interesting projects being carried on by the co-operatives formed by the unemployed in this county, typical in fact, of what is going on throughout our whole country.

Everything connected with the delivery of milk to the householders who are members is now under the direction of the co-operatives, with the exception of the actual production of the milk, and for this the producers are paid by requisitions upon the federal money that is set apart for the co-operatives.

If the producer sells all his milk to the co-operatives, he really is a part of the co-operative movement. The only difference between him and all the others engaged in it is that he gets cash while the rest of them receive goods for their labor.

It appears that it was intended that the co-operative people should be in direct charge of their own dairy, but those who selected the cattle for this purpose didn't seem to know what kind of animals produce milk.

Two bakeries are running in the county, baking in the aggregate some 1500 loaves daily. A print shop is being run co-operatively, as well as all the processing of fruit and vegetables.

Some of the figures concerning relief rolls and their increase in this county are rather remarkable. According to the director of the SERA, there were 1300 families on relief in Orange county last June, at the start of this program. There are 4000 families on such relief now.

The director of the SERA also said a factory, employing 600 women was producing goods for the co-operatives in San Bernardino county.

The same authority is responsible for the statement that one-fifth of our national population is on relief. Under the Public Works program of the SERA, there is an effort by the government to get something of value for the money paid out, so that there will be approximately a balanced ledger of wealth produced in the way of roads, buildings, parks on the one side, and wages and material paid for the same on the other.

This is done, in a large part, to save it being called a "dole", and to help those engaged in it to keep their self-respect. This is necessary because the public has been falsely taught that there is something disgraceful, even in such times as these through which we are passing, in one's being in need, or a family reaching a condition of no income.

We do not agree with this. In some cases it is disgraceful, depending upon how the breadwinner reached his condition. But in many other cases, it evidences a "sight" more honorable record than many have in attaining the position of income, in the midst of the nation's troubles.

We are informed that there are 800 of the unemployed in this county who have no positions because no projects have been found for them. We take it, however, that these 800 receive help, as do the ones for whom projects have been found.

It is rather unfortunate that some local communities have not furnished projects, and in some cases it has been unfortunate that having furnished them, they were not carried out by the CWA when it was operating. The Federal government is calling upon local communities to render greater assistance.

They may have to do it in the end. They can show the spirit of co-operation by furnishing funds for material in these projects.

ANOTHER BALKAN CRISIS

Eyes are on the Balkans once more as Yugoslavia expels Hungarians from her territory and makes the defense that Hungarians have expelled Yugoslavians in the last few days and initiated the move. In the meantime, at Geneva the League council was the scene of sensational talk yesterday when M. Eduard Benes, Czechoslovakian minister, announced that his country would fight if an attempt were made to break up the alliance between Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Roumania. The crisis has grown out of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and the charges by his country, that Hungary harbored the terrorists who committed the deed.

At this distance, as at Geneva, it is easier to see the consequences which may and probably will follow if Yugoslavia and Hungary go to war. On the border, where people are incensed by the plight of the refugees on both sides, where the trouble is starting, it is impossible to see all the consequences which may follow upon the acts there.

As long ago as September, before the crisis was precipitated by the assassination of King Alexander, a spokesman of the Foreign Policy association wrote: Discussion in the League (of Nations) has revealed a widening rift between France, the Baltic States, the Soviet Union and the Little Entente, (Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and Roumania), on the one hand, and Poland and Germany on the other. It is further pointed out, however, that this danger was counterbalanced by a noticeable rapprochement between France and Italy, and support given to the rapprochement by the Little Entente.

The more one goes into the situation in the Balkans, the internal problems of Yugoslavia, the uncertainty of the backing she would receive from the larger powers, the general poverty in Europe, and the reluctance of most of the nations for war at this time, the more one is convinced that this crisis will not precipitate a war, that adequate steps will be taken to put the lid back on the Balkan kettle. But when was a war ever reasonable? It isn't just the point where people were looking for a war to start, although such a book as Louis Adamie's

"The Native's Return" prepared one against being surprised by such an event.

It is impossible to look at the situation as dispassionately as we were able to look at the outbreak of the World War in 1914 because today we realize the hazards confronting the chance that the United States would not be eventually drawn into a general world war. We think that today we would have enough sense to stay out of it, such a hope is being expressed on almost every street corner. On the other hand informed observers, such as Miss Dorothy Thompson who spoke in Fullerton the other night say that the only way for the United States to stay out of another European war, if it breaks out is to refrain from all trade with the belligerents. This would mean no profit out of the war, which would be someone else's war for only a short period, and the closing of our borders to a lucrative trade which would follow if a large part of the rest of the world were occupied with war. How many of the American people are prepared to make such a sacrifice?

A STRANGE ROBBERY

A singular robbery was committed yesterday at Long Beach. The addressograph plates containing the addresses of 15,000 subscribers to the "Modern Crusader", the news organ of the Townsend plan of old age pension, were taken by three masked bandits.

These are made of metal and are heavy. They were taken from the office of the "Crusader" by three men. Then apparently to insure that the office could not renew its list, they forced the one in charge of the department to take them to the paper's business office and to turn over to them the list of subscribers.

Apparently this hold-up was not for money, for these plates and lists have little financial value, but it was to prevent the carrying on of the propaganda for the Townsend Revolving Old Age Pension plan amongst these people. Evidently it was another attempt to strangle an idea.

But they couldn't do it, if the idea is worth life, if they destroyed the subscribers themselves. It does, however, evidence the degree of folly to which people will go who hate ideas.

"IMITATION OF LIFE"

For clean, wholesome entertainment, strong in story, comedy, pathos, cast and production, "Imitation of Life" now playing at the West Coast theater is recommended for adult and children alike.

"Imitation of Life" written by Fannie Hurst and starring Claudette Colbert in the feature role is conclusive proof that entertaining films can be produced with indecency completely wiped out. The picture, the acting and the strain of clean comedy throughout leaves a nice after-taste. It's just one of those pictures that you want to see again and again.

While the picture has its many comedy scenes and touches of romance it also has its heart appeal in the racial problem of an almost white girl, who actually is a Negro. As she grows older she is filled with bitter hatred of her race. The working out of the problem is a story in itself.

We heartily recommend "Imitation of Life" and urge everyone who can to see it.

Can This Be Boston?

The Oakland Tribune

Those who variously regard Boston for its historic relics, proud families, reputation for learning or appetite for beans, are asked now to consider it as one of the worst-behaved cities in the nation. The violent assault upon traditional thought is contained in Raymond Moley's magazine Today, which says: "Boston has more criminal prosecutions per population than Chicago or New York."

If that is not a jolt of disillusionment, what is? A nation which has been taught to regard Chicago as a center of gangdom and has pictured New York similarly, and with additional thought toward a prowling Tammany tiger, has been proud of Boston. It would know what is the matter.

According to the article, the worst sin in the Hub city is gambling, which has been allowed to run full swing on the familiar theory that it is better to keep the money at home than encourage it to depart to other fields. Some will remember a day, back when exposures were called muck-raking, when Boston undertook a thorough inquiry into its iniquities. Edward Felt was the leader and the services of Lincoln Steffens were procured. A report was written, and it has disappeared.

Governor Ely, about to quit office, appointed a commission which prepared remedial bills and a legislature tucked them promptly into the waste basket. The governor, in his valedictory, says there is little hope for a state which has drifted far from the spirit of Plymouth Rock. The magazine writer argues the main fault is the lethargy of the people who cling to the idea there can be nothing wrong with Massachusetts or Boston. However, recently there has been organized a group of distinguished sons of the state which hopes to arouse a public opinion. Their task, they announce simply, is the redemption of Massachusetts.

The Price

The San Diego Union

Two events, reported from Europe, reveal the price that must be paid when a people accept dictatorship as a substitute for self-government. Yugoslavia is exiling 27,000 Hungarians, giving them no time, according to press reports, to gather up household effects or withdraw bank deposits. Russia, because one public official was murdered, tried 71 suspects on Tuesday and executed 66 of them on Wednesday. No imagination is needed to see that justice cannot live under such conditions. Yet these acts are typical of the governments which are being presented as a means of surrendering responsibility to supermen at a moment when everyone is struggling to cope with depression.

These are not the acts of supermen. They do reveal hysteria and fear, forces which are given free rein when individual humans are given unlimited power.

TOO MUCH ON THE AIR

A government board has decided That the "micro" is an organ of harm. And is feeding the folks With cheap radio jokes.

Which occasions decided alarm. But why not suggest to the Congress That there also is reason to fear

That the boys on the Hill Haven't sent a real thrill

To the old hot polio for a year.

Let the Senators make a few speeches Of the sort they don't make on the stump, Let them say something new

With a fresh point of view. And the stock in the place will not slump. If they grow just a trifle exciting.

The better their stanzas to earn. There may be a new deal

That is vital and real. And the people may listen and learn.

But when they prose on for three hours And say very little at that. That their fervent appeals

The record reveals Are more than a little bit flat.

The Senate's a marvelous body— A brilliant assemblage, no doubt— But the boys should take care

To keep off of the air Till the static is all ironed out.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

PRECIOUS PEOPLE

The confirmed skeptics of democracy are sure that democracy, as a way of life in the modern world, will always end by putting a nation's vast dead-weight of mediocrity in control of its affairs.

They see democracy as government by organized envy. The envy of the crowd, they think, will always excommunicate the little handful of folk who, because they think with greater precision, create with greater truth and beauty, and act with greater power, are the distilled essence of a nation's soul.

They do not believe that democracy will ever frankly acknowledge or fully adapt itself to the inequality of persons that equality of privilege always uncovers.

I am not concerned to argue this contention here. I want only to point out that here and there and yonder in the American educational system there is a growing sense that these "precious people" who are innately superior merit special attention.

Mr. Conant, among his first moves as President of Harvard university, sets up a series of special scholarships for truly superior students and proceeds to comb the country for candidates for those subsidies.

Mr. Russell, Dean of Teachers' college, Columbia university, proposes the creation of an Advanced School of Education at Columbia. He wants $3,000,000 with which to do the job. He would admit only indisputably superior graduate students. He would deliberately groom them for leadership in American education. He would fully support them while in training. And—just how my information does not make clear—he would insure these stars a permanent post for life.

At the University of Wisconsin, we have created a series of super-fellowships to be filled by what our Dean of the Graduate School, Mr. Fred, calls "blue ribbon horses."

These and like moves in other American universities are not undemocratic moves. They are moves to preserve for service that "distilled essence of the nation's soul" to which I referred at the outset.

PARENTAL COOPERATION

We talk a great deal about cooperation. Most of the emphasis is placed on the child's side of the arrangement. He must be taught to cooperate with home and family and school and teachers. How about home and family and school and teachers cooperating with him? It seems to me a little weight on that side would be helpful once in a while, especially where the adolescent boys and girls are interested.

"What is the trouble, Matthew? You've been out of sorts all month. What's wrong with you, anyway?"

"Nothing."

"O yes, there is. A whole lot is the matter or you wouldn't be grouching about muffled your work and everything else you touch. You seem to be against everybody."

"Everybody's against me, you mean."

"How's that? Who's against you? Begin with the worst one. We've got to get this cleared up or you'll fail this term's work. And you've got to be graduated this term if you are to enter college as you planned. Out with it. Who's in your way the most?"

"I don't like to say it but it's my mother. The rest are just as bad but she's the boss in our house so I have to put it up to her. She never cooperates with me."

"No? For instance?"

"Say I'm playing on the team. She knows I can't get home for 6 o'clock dinner. She serves it just the same, on the dot, and I get no dinner. I got to help myself from the icebox and clean up afterwards. Me all tired out and dirty and a couple of hours home-work to do and nobody even says 'Do you want anything?' O no. It's 'Where were you? How do you expect me to remember the days you play? Anyway you know when dinner is served and it's your business to get home on time. I can't serve meals at all hours. When you get through eating, I want you to shake down the furnace and take out the ashes. And if you didn't bring home your shoes from the cobbler's go right out and get them. It's going to rain tomorrow and you'll need them.' Somebody else pipes up and tells me to bring a newspaper, or go down cellar for some apples, or up to the attic for an old mat. The dog's cold. And I have to take him out before I go to bed, too. Don't forget that."

The tale of his woes was as long as his breath. He had nursed his grievances until they had expanded mightily, even to the extent of robbing him of the joy of his dog's companionship. He HAD to take him out instead of liking to take him out. He felt that every hand was against him. He had no place to go, no one to whom he could look for affectionate consideration.

That's what these big, hulking, clumsy football players really look for when they say they need cooperation. They want to know that there is a warm spot in the heart of somebody to which they can go for warmth, for encouragement, for sustaining help. Cooperate a bit with them. Keep their dinners hot. Adjust home somewhat to their needs. The lads who go to high school and college are doing work as important to them and to their people, as the sons and daughters who report for work daily. Give the fledglings a chance.

The story goes that King George IV lay dying as the results of the Goodwood races were brought to him in 1830. He had instructed postboys to be stationed at intervals between Goodwood and Windsor Castle to carry him the results of the races. One of his three entrants, Fleur-de-lis, won the race, and the king died happy.
